

In Class Activity 1

What this data meant to us was that there was no real correlation within the data set. After looking at the data and running multiple regression along with a series of F tests, we have concluded that there isn't a real correlation within this data set. Although we could not find a reasonable correlation within this data set, that does not mean there isn't one to be found.

